

Revitalising your Key Leadership Skills: Training yourself to respond better

10th March 2020

Time: 9.30am - 3.30pm (Reg. from 8.30am)

Brisbane CBD

Venue TBA

Greg Mitchell has taught every year level from year one to year twelve in his teaching career and has a wealth of teaching insights, ploys, methods and resources to share on teaching and learning. He now does teaching demonstrations with classrooms throughout Australia. His aim is to demonstrate to both teachers and students how it is possible to engage everyone in learning by using a mixture of planning, resources, tactics, skills and strategies.

Greg suffers from enthusiasm and a great desire to share all of his resources with as many teachers as he can.

Program Description

This fascinatingly practical workshop teaches you how a simple 5-minute exercise can teach you how to alter those habits that you feel let you down. For example, next time you delegate a job to anyone ask the following two questions...

1. Are you interested in doing this? and
2. Tell me how you think you might go about it?

These simple questions get you buy in and clarity, a good chance of appraising whether the job will be done well and if you have chosen the right person for the job. The workshop explores one of the two key strands of your core leadership habits being your ability to focus on people. (The other core area is getting things done.)

It looks at the eleven dimensions needed to...

- Persuade & Influence
- Developing people and teams
- Strengthen interpersonal skills

You will learn how to develop the simple habits that assist when...

- Influencing Others
- Overcoming Individual Resistance
- Negotiating Well
- Empowering Others
- Mentoring and Coaching
- Building Team Spirit
- Building Relationships
- Showing Care
- Listening Actively
- Communicating Clearly
- Speaking with Appeal

Target Audience: Primary and Secondary Teachers. 6 PD hrs
